GALE ON THE CHESAPEAKE

The United States Seacoast Telegraph Wires Were Prostrated During the Day and No News Could Be Had from the Coast.

(Special to The Times-Disputch,) NORFOLK, VA., February 28,-The wind reached a velocity of thirty-eight miles an hour in Norfolk this morning, and during the height of the blow considerable damage occurred. The wind struck the American Cigar Company's new four-story factory, in the course of construction on Princess Avenue, and the whole building was damaged. Some fif-teen feet of the brick work was blown out of one side of the building and all four corners were twisted. The damage to the building may mean its entire reconstruction. A negro workman was injured by failing bricks.

The wind blew a gale on the coast and in Chesapeake Bay last night, and all incoming steamers were delayed. The United States seacoast telegraph wires were prostrated during the day and no news was had from the coast except by telephone from Cape Henry.

Susan Perkins, a negro woman who had been missing several days, was found on Wednseday night in a ditch near the Ballentine farm by a boy who was passing that way in a cart. He went to her assistance and found her in a helpless condition, feeble, wet and cold. How she got there has not developed, but it seems that she wandered out into the country and fell into the ditch. The boy took her to his mother's house mearby, where the woman has since been cared for. She is about seventy years of age.

Increased Pines.

Justice Tazewell Taylor threatens to inpresse the fines against those who persist in violating the liquor lows. It seems that there is an impression that the idauor business is so profitable that the dealer can pay the fines and still make a profit by defying the law. The matement is that next week the fines will be increased to $500 for the recalcitrant salots keepers who have been fined aborder and who are persistent violators of the laws and ordinances. At the same time a bond of $1,000 will be required for good behavior for a year. This will be a drastic method of punishment, as it increases the fine from $200 and the bond from the same amount.

Justice Taylor to-day rendered a lengthy opinion in the case of Liconse Inspector Doran, who swore out warrants against the Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport Naws Company, charsing that the defendants operated a steam ferry between Norfolk, Portsmouth and Sorkley contary to section 184 of an ordinance of the city debt and to meet the general appropriations for the year beginning July 1, 1002."

The defendant company was fined $25. The opinion celess is follows:

AFTER HIS ATTORNEY.

C. P. Lewis, who has several other allases, was in the Corporation Court before Judge Hanckel again this morning. The judge was ready to prenounce the sentence of imprisonment on him for three years in the penitentiary for the abduction of the little girl Myrtle Joyner, but the prisoner asked the privilege of a longer time to induce his attorney to fell him why the plea for a new trial was not prosecuted. The court granted the request, as he has granted many other requests of the same prisoner, when there was little. If any, reason but the abundant elemency of the court in the behalf of a smart, but friendless convict. The time that Lewis spends in jail here will not be deducted from his time in the penitentiary, hence there is no apparent advantage is delaying the time of passing the sentence and of going to the penitentiary.

The little boy runaway, Barl Montbastle, who professes to be fifteen years of age, but appears not more than 12, and who was arrested at the Monticello Hotel last night, was in the Police Court this morning, to be held for the orders from his father, of Brooklyn. NEW RAILWAY PROJECT.

A meeting was held here to-day by the promoters of a new electric line which it is proposed to run from Cape Henry to Virginia Beach, then around to Sewell's Point, and which will touch Ocean View. Very little information as to the result of the meeting was obtainable. It is said the many wealthy men are behind the company, which will be formed and that a tidewater outlet will be had in which over a million dollars will be invested. The idea is to tap the farming country hereabouts, carry the freight and ship it from the big terminals which may be erected around these waters.

introduces the novely of lavying the conty in the cast. The names mentioned for the parts guarantee the greatest success.

"College Topics" in an editorial calls special attention to the new feature of men's playing the femals part in the comedy, and gives its most hearty endorsement to the plan. It says: "We do not wish to say anything against the acting of any of our lady friends in the plays that have been given here for the last six or seven years. Much of their acting has been very enjoyable, and as amateurs they have done splendidly. But we, nevertheless, are firm in the opinion that college plays should be acted exclusively by college men. This is the custom in nearly every college in the country, and in some institutions, especially Harvard, Yale and Pennsylvania, its success has been very great. * * * The play that was acted here with the greatest success was "The Flirt," as many of our oldest friends remembers, and this success was composed entirely of men."

Improvements in Lee District in the past year have been marvelous. Onb visiting the locality then would not know it now. Many of the residences recently erected are handsome and the city will not allow a frame house to be built in the district. The fact that the Lea statue is in the midst of the district, and gives it a name, makes it exceedingly appropriate that the residences surrounding the fine work of art should be artistic and beautiful.

Among the latest to be crected is that of Mr. E. Craige Pelouze at the northwest corner of Grace and Meadow Streets, designed by Mr. William C. West, the well-known architect. Mr. West has endeavored so to combine desirable ideas that while there may be larger buildings erected in the future, it will remain a source of pleasure to the owner and his neighbors.

The exterior is to be faced with Powhatan Clay Manufacturing Company's gray bricks, a darker shade, in imitation of stone, at the lower part near the ground and a lighter shade above this, and it will be trimmed with Bedford, Ind., stone.
The general expression of the design is colonial, without entering into some of the rather costly details of that order or style.

The plan arrangement is unique in many respects for a residence of this size. As one enters the hall there is on the right a "saloon parlor," and in the

The name of Abraham Linkhorn first appears on page 55 of these old records as a member of a court martial held at Staunton, Va., on the 13th of March, 1776, of which Col. The story of the Abraham Lincoln now living in Rockingham is interesting. This old man was not named for the President, but for the grandfather, the same from whom President Lincoln got his name.

About seven miles from Linville Creek is the ploturesque village of Lacy Springs. The famous Winchester pike runs through the little town. Lacy Springs is the home of Abraham Lincoln the oldest male survivor of the Lincolns, of Rockingham county. This gental gentleman is is still hale and hearty. He is the son of David Lincoln, and grandson of Jacob Lincoln, who was one of the four brothers who moved to Rockingham county before the Revolution. The house in which Abraham Lincoln lives, was built by his father in 1820, and is a handsome and commodious frame dweling, standing back some distance from the main street of the town and surrounded by shade trees.

The Lincolns of Rockingham county have always been large land owners and prosperous farmers. The present Abraham Lincoln is a typical old Virginian, intellectual and possessing a native dignity that is very attractive.
